

Robert Schuffert Studios

Huntsville, Alabama 35803

www.SchuffertStudios.com

(256) 881-1354

Issue 7, November, 2007

Schuffert's Strides

Newsletter November, 2007

Parade!

Follow along with Robert Schuffert on his recent photographic expeditions

All images copyrighted by Robert Schuffert, © 2007

Huntsville's 2007 Veteran's Day Parade "We Honor Those Who Serve"

Every November all over the country, people turn out by the thousands to honor veteran's sacrifices during present and past wars, some almost forgotten today. The parade is a great annual event that symbolizes our gratitude for those serving our country and protecting our freedoms now and for the last 231 years.

The theme of Huntsville's parade this year: "We Honor Those Who Serve". The 2007 parade included over 140 presentations and approximately 30,000 spectators, making it Huntsville's largest parade to date, lasting almost two hours. High school and college bands, JROTCs, local companies, and car clubs were just a few of the participants.

Being an overcast day helped disperse light for photographs, but the sky itself was very bright, requiring a zoom for close-ups of the action in most cases. Autumn color make attractive backdrops.

